Custom Business Management Systems

We develop CRM, ERP, document management, order processing, production, and warehouse solutions.

We work with PHP, .NET, React, SQL, and API integrations.

Your benefits: automated processes, reduced manual work, and improved data analysis.

Software Administration

We provide maintenance, updates, and monitoring of IT systems and software.

We troubleshoot issues, configure services, and ensure stable operation. We apply best practices to guarantee security and efficiency.

Your benefits: stable infrastructure, less manual work for your team, and fast issue resolution.

Dedicated IT Teams

We build a team of developers tailored to your project's requirements and work as an extension of your IT department.

The process includes candidate selection and integration into the client's operations.

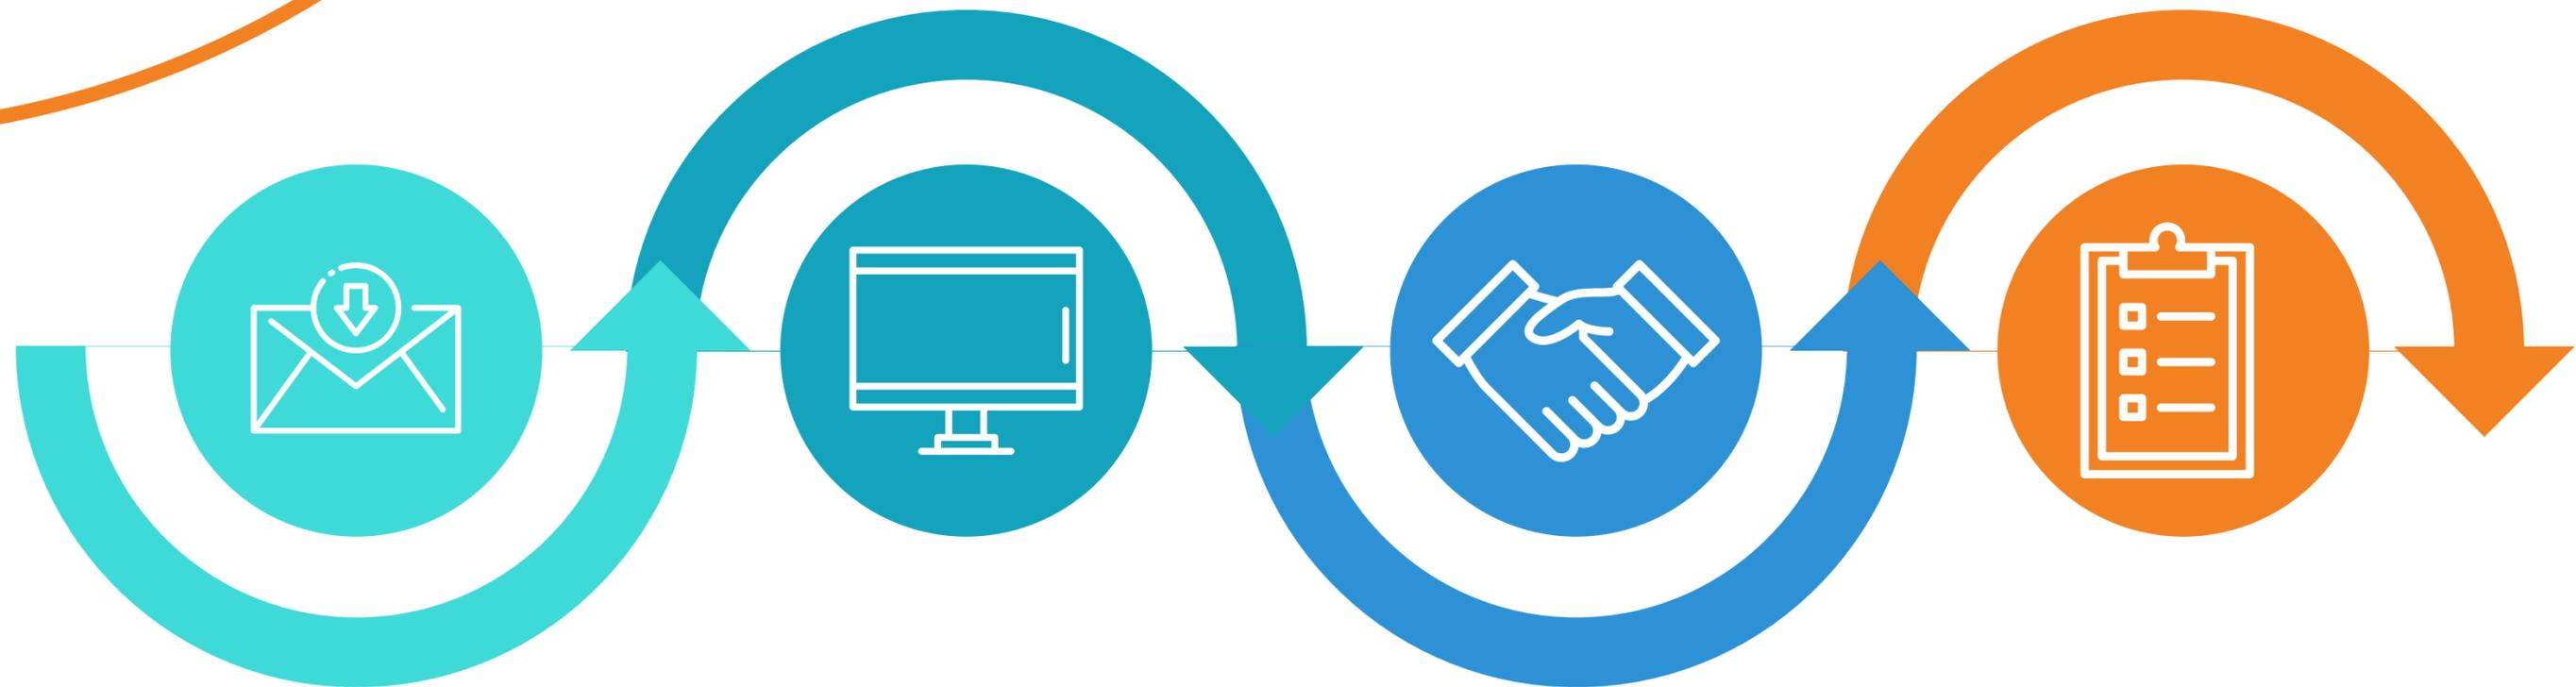

Your benefits: fast project kickoff, reduced risks and costs, flexibility.

How to start?

Review the CVs of the presented IT professionals and find the best fit

As soon as the agreement is signed, you will have full control and influence over work process of a selected dedicated team..

Fill out a short inquiry form or contact us via email or phone for an initial consultation and needs assessment.

Once the candidates have been selected, a dedicated team is built and a cooperation agreement is concluded.

Why choose a dedicated team of developers?

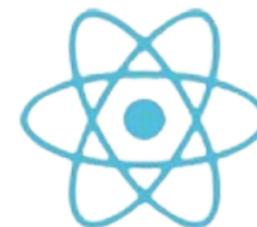

- Faster software development and deployment
- Automation reduces errors and saves time
- Improved team collaboration
- Higher software quality and security
- Closer team cooperation
- Encourages innovation and rapid testing of new ideas

That Fuels Our Growth:

Rewell – FAST TEAM GROWTH

Rewell was in need of backend and frontend developers to finalise our unfinished project for product launch, which was at the moment behind schedule. Inkodus helped us find skilled and flexible developers who together with our developers were able to launch a beta version and then a first public version a few months later. We were very satisfied so we continued the cooperation well after the public version had launched.

During our cooperation of 18 months we managed together with Inkodus to overhaul much of our backend architecture to make it more scaleable for the future, but we also managed to keep a very good pace of digitising our manual processes into the launched product.

Creating a more robust and better product experience for our patients, our doctors, and our staff.

I would highly recommend Inkodus for their skilled developers and high work ethics.

MrO – DEDICATED DEVELOPERS FOR ONLINE TRAVEL BOOKING SYSTEM

We produced one of Europe's most used online booking engines with more than 3000 individual bookings in a single day. System required experienced IT specialists, so we contacted Inkodus. Mr. Robertas Kaunas helped us build a remote team in Lithuania and our co-operation with the team has been lasting for 4 years already. We use senior level .NET C#, Angular and QA services.
